However, Hoshi et al. and Yamauchi et al. both fail to disclose support means, as claimed. More specifically, Hoshi et al. and Yamauchi et al. both fail to disclose or suggest support means supporting the reading guide unit rotatably to the automatic document feeder.

With regard to independent claim 3, Hoshi et al. and Yamauchi et al. each disclose an automatic document feeder for transferring an original through a reading position, including first transport means; second transport means; a curved reading path; a reading guide unit with a first guide member for guiding an original from the first transport means to the reading position, a second guide member for guiding the original passing through the reading position to the second transport means and a transparent film member; and support means. However, Hoshi et al. and Yamauchi et al. both fail to disclose or suggest a reading guide unit, as claimed. More specifically, Hoshi et al. and
